

Apple Blossom

All the produce we hope for in May has been a long time coming and this year's weather has shortened the season for both Jersey Royals and Asparagus - which means increased prices. As before, we offer these as Veg Box EXTRAS which you can have as a one-off or just say you want a portion every week whilst they're in season.

Fruit or Veg? Rhubarb is a vegetable from the Polygonaceae family. While it's technically a vegetable due to its inherent characteristics (it's an edible plant with leaves and stalks), it was legally judged to be a fruit in 1947 by a New York court to help businesses avoid paying additional taxes.

At Phantassie we hold to botany including it as a Veg Box ingredient. So please let us know if you hate it, have a huge clump in the garden or always get given some by friends or neighbours. Really good rhubarb recipes can be found by searching "Guardian Rhubarb Recipes" on the web.

STONEFRUIT MEDLEYS are the "apple and pear bag" of early summer – a selection of nectarines, peaches, cherries and apricots.

TOMATO MEDLEYS are a bumper, family-sized punnet of different varieties – great if you can't choose between them, or simply want to try lots of different types of tomatoes.

CARBON GOLD COMPOST as used here on the farm and recommended for performance and environmental reasons. We help with the carbon footprint too by delivering it with your Veg Box. They have a very informative website: www.carbongold.com

Despite these specific abundances, we are still officially in the SCOTTISH HUNGRY GAP, when home grown produce is extremely limited, consisting of leaves and herbs with the first substantial veg expected at the end of June - or even later than that from us, as we have been unable to put very much in the ground during a very cold April.

See our blog on the website phantassie.co.uk which is also where you look to find out which MARKETS we are attending and to remind yourselves of all the VEG BOX OPTIONS, if you feel like ringing the changes. Mediterranean and Salad boxes are very popular during the summer months.

It's a full year now since we all plunged into the maelstrom of Covid restrictions and lockdown life. Here at Phantassie, we've hardly had time to draw breath as we changed all our working practices and indeed our business model and tried our best to deliver good, healthy veg to all those asking. On the whole we have relished the challenge and the opportunity to showcase Organic Veg Boxes to a wider audience. So many of you are still with us and now we are welcoming back many of our catering customers who, somehow, extraordinarily have survived and are so happy to be cooking for appreciative customers again. Everyone here at Phantassie is hugely grateful to all of you for being customers, being uncomplaining and understanding and asking politely about the unfamiliar veg in your box. You have helped us to keep all the jobs, with no government help, create three new ones, pay our taxes (somebody had to), circulate money in the local economy, support other growers and organic businesses and generally 'up our game' and hopefully improve our service standards.

Here's to a summer of eating lots of lovely Fruit and Veg and relishing the connection with the chemical-free land and soil that produces it. And of course, to practising our new-found cooking skills!
