

4th September 2016
West Sussex Woodturners Club

Ray Burton stepped in as chairman today as our main chairman Ian Rudge was on his hols and hopes the day goes well.

The club meeting today is a practical day where members are encouraged to have a go.

Five lathes were set out for members to use, and the objective was to make an egg cup from start to finish in twenty minutes.

The egg cups were judged altogether on the disciplines of, design to hold the egg securely and how it sat on the table.

Difficulty of turning, the design in hand and any added decoration.

First place was awarded to Tom Goodwin

Second place was Bob Eastabrook

The day was enjoyed by all and the show and tell table had some very good items on display. A Corian screw lidded box with insert in the lid as well, plus arrow through apple (no glue involved). Colin shows what can be achieved.

Stewart Furini has found some very interesting items on eBay which has put to good use in the workshop. The one I was most impressed by was the LED lights on the back of the tool rest. I have included a few pictures below so as members can order their own, but Stewart will bring along again said items to next month's meeting.

A brilliant idea running on 12volt battery so no risk of injury if broken. Brightness has to be seen to be believed.

Information on where Stewart got the items, but he will bring along the info to next month's meeting so as members can make their own notes.
