

Food miles have been frowned upon for quite some time but what about beauty miles? If you're concerned about the environment then here's news to make you smile. The marvellous Alexandra Worsley Homeopathy in Bramhall is now stocking a range of natural skincare that's made just down the road in Hale. Peachykeen organics is made by hand using 100% natural ingredients and the range even uses essential oils from an organic farm in Merseyside. The Peachykeen range was launched by entrepreneur Jane Pusey. She says: 'Many of our customers are from the North West and they like the fact that we're a small, local business rather than an international beauty brand. We're delighted to offer our range to a wider
