Benzi Evolution PTO shafts

Vapormatic has added to its already extensive Power Take Off range the latest high performance increased power PTO Shaft assemblies from the new Benzi Evolution range.

- New Look
- New technology
- New Safety

The new Evolution high performance series is the result of Benzi & Di Terlizzi's 50 years experience in PTO drive shaft technology and its goal to improve the life span, reliability, ease of use and safety of PTO drive shafts. Evolution provides a top technology product for higher horsepower applications commonly used by large farms or contractors but equally provides numerous benefits to less demanding applications. Evolution is a unique fully interchangeable alternative to German type PTO Shafts and components.

New Technology Highlights

- Redesigned universal joints with up to 50 working hour lubrication intervals
- Grease nipples located on end cap of UJ for easy greasing through guard bellows.
- Easy greasing system for telescopic tubes through safety guard tubes.
- Profile tubes have tube seals to keep dust and dirt out and prolong life of telescopic tubes.
- Steel quick release collar locking system for extreme conditions
- Increased power range up to 300 HP

New Safety Highlights

- Guards conform to latest safety requirements (EN5674)
- Safety guards have a new patented safety chain with pre-set disengagement system
- Guard retainers produced of new material that allows up to 50 working hour lubrication intervals
- New safety and danger labels designed to last using indelible ink and durable materials.
- Re-designed instruction hand book to ensure safe usage
