Yamaha high-pitched trumpets feature a brilliant tone with crisp clear attacks and excellent control in the high register. Though originally used primarily for Baroque music, they are increasingly used by solo and orchestral players for security with difficult high passages as well as for the clarity and lyrical qualities of their sound. The 6610S is a professional model and features a fixed bell design with a complete set of slides to convert it to either Eb or D. It has a durable silver-plate finish and offers highly accurate intonation.
