

Did you know?

Pangolins roll up into a ball when they are threatened, protecting themselves from predators, but sadly making it easy for poachers to pick them up.