

Under The Mango Tree has been selected as an affinity partner with Riviera Travel. This means that every time someone books with Riviera and mentions Under The Mango Tree then the charity will receive a commission.

There is absolutely no cost to the person making the booking and absolutely no information is passed to Under The Mango Tree - it really is that simple.

‘Affinity Marketing’, as a concept, consists of a partnership between a company and an organisation that links together people sharing the same interests and ideals. In this case Under The Mango Tree with Riviera Travel.

When booking a holiday through Riviera, customers now have the option to nominate Under The mango Tree to receive a commission on the holiday value at no cost to themselves. This is donated by Riviera at the completion of the customer’s holiday.

 You can even mention Under The Mango Tree when requesting a brochure!
