What fly repellent do you find works best in your area? : The red inserts, NAF pink bottle fly repellent

Other comments : Love the bands, the red inserts seem to work best in our area. We use them alongside citronella. The white ones work in the stables but not when turned out. Bands are great even for big horses

What fly repellent do you find works best in your area? : Probably the yellow and white inserts

Other comments : The new inserts are fab but find them a bit of a squeeze to fit into the original style bands, the replacements I was sent were much better bands with no sign of wear yet. Thanks for a fab product

What fly repellent do you find works best in your area? : Nothing seems to last long - find something that works, and then within a couple of weeks the flies seem to become immune!

Other comments : I like these pods, especially for use near the face, but I think the holes need reinforcing for tying onto mane / forelock. Looking forwards to the bright coloured leg bands, have given up playing 'hunt the leg bands' now... they're in the field somewhere...
Pink or orange bands would be easier to spot than other colours I think! :)

Other comments : Great product but doesn't seem to last 2 weeks. When first put on flies keep away, but after a few days, even with me keeping them in an airtight bag, flies will still land, I'm not convinced of the 1mtr radius! But I do prefer to use than sprays

How well did the repellent work? : Made a significant improvement

What fly repellent do you find works best in your area? : Deet due to the field being near a river

Other comments : I found the fabric slipped round themetal ring after a days wear on the horses legs. Other than this it's a really good product to use

What fly repellent do you find works best in your area? : Mixture of inserts

Other comments : It would be helpful if the leg bands were a brighter colour so easier to find when they fall off. Also have found that the mesh that holds the inserts is not very strong, in this the first summer of using the products I am on my 3rd set of leg bands due to this. It's a shame because I love the concept but it is getting expensive to replace the bands.

What fly repellent do you find works best in your area? : Haven't found one that works best in our area as such but swaer by your bands now.

Other comments : I couldnt say which of the colours work best as we have them all in at once. I was a little sad that both of the leg straps damaged very easily the netting just came away, I managed to salvage one strap but the other I had to bin unfortunately. Love the keyring type one also as so handy to move around on rugs, head colours or tack whilst out and about. Great products overall and will be purchasing again

Other comments : This is product is dangerous and I won't use it again. Whilst out hacking more horse scratched his leg and managed to bit the insert which broke off the leg strap. It was only lucky I saw him do it as he could easily have chocked on the insert. If he had been in the field this would a very different outcome. The leg straps also fell off repeatedly off. Sorry but not impressed. Complete waste of money.

May be worth making the Velcro strap longer as one part is quite a small area.
May not come off of ruff and smooth hasn't longer strips.
Otherwise great product.

Other comments : The leg bands were too big for my ponies legs so smaller size might be good option. The clip on the tag is flimsy and broke within 2 days when I attached it to horse rug. Not sure whether putting 4 leg bands on might of been better at detracting the flies from a large horse.

What fly repellent do you find works best in your area? : Sticky Fly Trap, I hang buckets covered in the stuff around my yard and in the paddocks, it kills all the flies. But not any good when out hacking so use Fly-Off then..

Other comments : I will continue to use both as both effective in different scenarios.

What fly repellent do you find works best in your area? : Any natural fly repellent seem to work for my pony. I also have bait traps hung up around his paddock. I have a fly off hanging in his stable and not seen one fly.

How well did the repellent work? : Attracted flies had to remove product

What fly repellent do you find works best in your area? : none seem to work at all, tried the bridle too, still didn't work. So left them in the tack room next to tack and flies actually gathered rather than repelled, not at all impressed with these.

Other comments : cannot keep them on, Velcro need to "double back" like horse boots otherwise far to easy to grab and pull undone - lost 4 leg bands in 2 days- waste of money.

Other comments : I found the bands rubbed and have feather loss on my cobs legs and one leg had a sore from the band, shame as they were working well for a pony that hates sprays. they were too slow for my 14hh cob but did fit my 12hh cob. I like the product and still trying to find a why to get it to work for them.
