Weobley is famous for its half-timbered 'black and white' buildings, many of which line the main street within just a few steps of the Church of St. Peter & St. Paul, where services are held every Sunday at 10.30am, in addition to Morning Praise which is held on the first Sunday of each month and a communion service on the other Sundays. Our worship is well supported by two excellent organists and a group of enthusiastic singers.

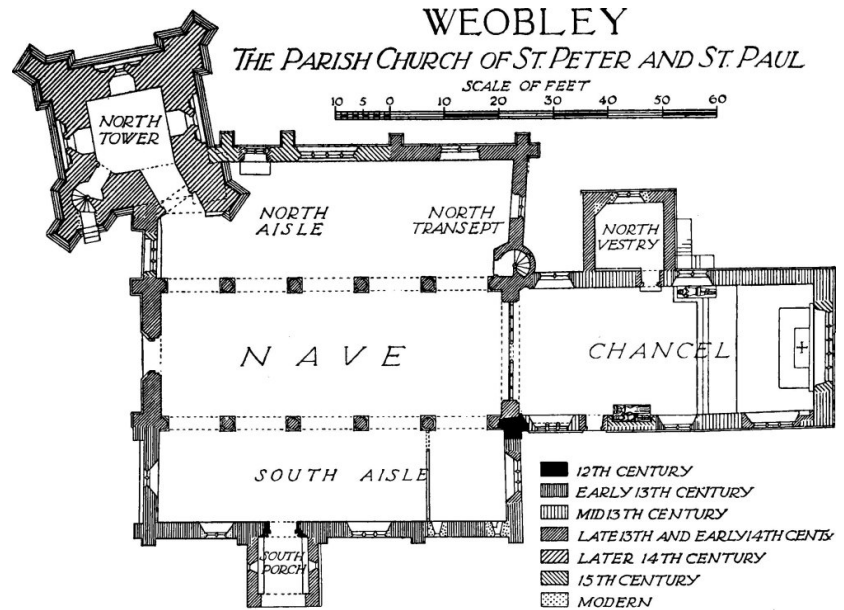

Our Grade 1 listed church, with its unique stonework, large windows and towering steeple, dates back to the 12th century and attracts many visitors.

The tower and spire of the church are at the far end of the street and are the most prominent element in the landscape.

The spire is altogether even more impressive: very tall and connected to elaborate pinnacles by flying buttresses.

The tower is 14th century; the spire was rebuilt in 1675 and again in 1898. Although the earliest church here was Norman, most of what can be seen today dates from the 13th and 14th centuries.

Of special interest is the rose window in the south aisle. Near it is a coffin lid with foliage carving. Monuments include an effigy of Sir William Devereux from 1402, and a statue of Colonel Birch, MP, who died in 1691.

We are fortunate to have the support of The Friends of Weobley Church, who help us in raising funds to maintain the fabric of the church.
